Nebraska Weather Crop Bulletin. LINCOLN, July 3. - Winter wheat is generally beginning to ripen in the southern half of the state, but wet weather has interfered with the harvesting of wheat and rye, and but little progress has been made during the week. Oats in the southern portion of the state generally suffered considerable damage from the hot weather and winds early in the week; in the northeastern section of the state all small grain has made excellent progress and is in unusually promising condition. Corn has made but slow growth during the week on account of cool weather, and it is a omewhat backward for the season.

Last year in March we imported from Canada 9,855 dozen eggs. This year, under tariff reform, in March we imported from Canada 43,566 dozen. Of course it was good for Canada, but American hens are not cackling over it. A FEW days ago 2,000 head of sheep were shipped from Washington county, Penn., to Pittsburg and sold for fifty cents per head in open market. Three years ago such sheep were worth $2 or $2.50 per head. This represents a shrinkage of seven-eights in the value of sheep, which is the "raw material" of wool. But there has been no such decrease in the price of the manufactured article, as a visit to any clothing store will testify.
